

Cookie Policy

Updated May 2024

- What are cookies, and why do we use them?
- Withdrawal and Management of Your Consent
- How to Contact Us

This website, solidsealing.com, uses cookies and similar technologies. This cookie policy explains the cookies we use and the purposes for which we use them. We may change the cookies we use from time to time, and we will update this policy accordingly. You can revisit this page at any time to review our policy.

You will find more information on our personal data management and privacy policy on our Privacy Policy page: <https://www.solidsealing.com/privacy-policy/>.

What are cookies, and why do we use them?

Cookies are text files containing small amounts of information that are placed on your computer's hard drive when you visit certain websites. These files serve different purposes including the proper functioning of this website, saving your browsing settings, displaying advertisements corresponding to your browsing preferences and habits, statistical analysis of visits, and tracking user interaction. First-party cookies are set by the website owner or publisher. Third-party cookies are any other cookies set by parties other than the website owner. Third-party cookies enable third-party features or functionality to be provided on or through the website. Examples include advertising, interactive content, and certain analytics. The parties that set these third-party cookies can recognize your computer when it visits the website in question and also when it visits certain other websites.

The installation of most cookies will result in the collection and storage of personal data such as information concerning your electronic device, your connection to individual accounts, your behavior during the visit to the site (date, time and duration of connection, pages visited), your IP address, information about your devices' operating system, mobile carrier, and information from which your regional geographic location information can be identified. Cookies collect information during their duration which can last for a single browsing session or longer, depending on the cookie.

The specific types of first and third-party cookies utilized throughout solidsealing.com, the purposes they perform, and the varied duration of those cookies are described below:

Necessary

Necessary cookies are required to enable this website's basic features such as providing a secure log-in or adjusting your consent preferences. These cookies do not store any personally identifiable data.

Functional

Functional cookies help perform certain functionalities like sharing the content of the website on social media platforms, collecting feedback, and other third-party features.

Statistical/Analytical

Analytical cookies are used to understand how visitors interact with the website. These cookies help provide information on metrics such as the number of visitors, bounce rate, traffic source, etc.

Advertisement

Advertisement cookies are used to provide visitors with customized advertisements based on the pages you visited previously and to analyze the effectiveness of the ad campaigns.

Withdrawal and Management of Your Consent

You have the right to change and/or withdraw your consent to the use of cookies at any time through our cookie management tool, which allows you to accept or reject all non-essential cookies or choose which specific cookies you permit to access your device.

In addition to the cookie management tool on this site, most browser privacy settings will allow you to delete cookies, stop accepting new cookies, and to be notified when new cookies are set. The website www.aboutcookies.org contains additional detailed guidance on how to do this on a variety of browsers. However, if you block all cookies, you may be unable to access certain parts or functions of our website.

How to Contact Us

For any questions about this cookie policy or our privacy practices, email info@solidsealing.com, or write to Solid Sealing Technology, 44 Dalliba Ave, Watervliet, NY 12189, USA, Attn: Privacy Request.